

VELORETTI
Colour and type, 2026

Demo stand-in. The palette, typeface and usage rules on these pages come from Veloretti's own visual language; the page numbers, the type scale and the example-layout contradiction are staged so the agent has something to be unsure about.

02 CONTENTS

04	Palette
05	The neutral ramp
06	Using colour
07	Example layouts
08	Punctuation
09	Typeface
10	Fallbacks
11	Type scale

03 FIRST PRINCIPLE

Less, but better. If a surface can carry the message in black on paper, it does.

04 PALETTE

PRIMARY

#1A1A1A Ink black Pantone Black 6 C

"Monochrome first. The product is the colour."

The bike carries the colour. Everything around it is ink, paper and grey. Ink black is the only swatch on this page marked primary, and it is the only one that may set type at any size.

TERTIARY

#FE5900 Signal orange

"Tertiary is not fixed. Special cases only."

Signal orange is promotional. Discounts, sale, urgency. It is not a brand colour and not a default call to action, and the guide states it is not fixed: a future promotion may replace it.

05 THE NEUTRAL RAMP

#333130
#4B4943
#6B6961
#8A887E
#9F9A93
#BBB8B3
#D9D7D3
#E8E8E6

"Grays do the work quietly."

Eight steps, warm neutral, printed here without names or roles. Which step is text and which is a border is shown by the example layouts on pages 6 and 7 rather than stated.

06 USING COLOUR

"Reserved for discounts and promotional messages."

Signal orange marks a promotion and nothing else. Never as a background behind body copy. Never on type below 18px.

"Sentence case everywhere except product names."

Headlines, subheads and subject lines are sentence case. Forty examples follow in this guide and none of them deviate.

07 EXAMPLE LAYOUTS

Four layouts at desktop width. Two of them set the second-level heading larger than the scale on page 11 allows, which is an error in the examples rather than a second scale.

Ø8 PUNCTUATION

"No serial comma."

British-English house style. Lists read: the carrier, the basket and the child seat.

"We do not shout."

Exclamation marks are forbidden. No stated exceptions.

09 TYPEFACE

"One typeface does everything."

PP Neue Montreal, Regular 400 and Medium 500. Those two weights were supplied as web fonts and no other weight appears in this specimen.

"Display is large and tight."

Display and headings are set Medium at -2% tracking. The licence note confirms web use is covered.

10 FALLBACKS

"Fallbacks use system fonts."

Helvetica Neue, Arial, sans-serif

An editorial serif voice is referenced for the journal. No font file was supplied with it, so it is out of scope here.

11 TYPE SCALE

H1	36
H2	28
H3	22
body	16
caption	13

"Scale shown at desktop width."

Mobile sizes are not given anywhere in this guide.